

Paul Gauguin CRUISES

New for 2018 Society Islands & Tahiti Iti A rare visit to the Tahiti few travellers ever see Possessing a wild beauty of rugged cliffs, caves, waterfalls, crystal-clear seas, and beautiful beaches, Tahiti Iti—like other Polynesian islands—has fired the artistic imagination. Sparsely populated and renowned for its surfing, it complements Tahiti's more lively side and is best experienced with an expert who can reveal its many facets.

Paul Gauguin Cruises is the only cruise line to offer you that opportunity. Because The Gauguin is owned by French Polynesia's leading luxury hotel and cruise operator, we are the experts to the region, with resources no one else can match. Let us give you an unparalleled, comprehensive view of the real Tahiti on a brand-new itinerary that also features our most popular ports.

NEW optional shore and SCUBA diving excursions offered in Tahiti Iti include:

- Bonjour's Garden of Eden: Located at the far end of Tahiti Iti, this nature sanctuary is one of the most preserved areas of the entire island of Tahiti.
- Highlights of Tahiti Iti: Teahupoo is a small village in Tahiti Iti that is well-renowned for its surfing wave and as home of the Billabong Pro Tahiti—one of the largest international surfing competitions in the world. After exploring Teahupoo, the journey continues to the northern coast of the peninsula toward Taravao, to admire the volcanic shape of Tahiti and the isthmus of Taravao. Then, on to Vaipahi Gardens, where more than 75 species of vegetation grow.
- Tahiti Iti Lagoon & Teahupoo Surf Point Cruise: Offers the opportunity to snorkel through stunning turquoise lagoons and among coral reefs highlighting the natural beauty of Tahiti Iti.
- Half-Day Tour by E-Bike: Guests can explore Tahiti Iti by e-bike, a bike that is equipped with electric motors and gears, and ride from Vairao to the village of Teahupoo to see the famous surfing wave. They then journey through Taravao Town, Taravao Plateau, and up to Belvedere Point to witness stunning views of Tahiti and Iti.
- Tahiti Golf Excursion—18 Holes: The Olivier Bréaud International Golf Course is known by golfers as Tahiti's best-kept secret. This 18-hole course provides a beautiful setting on what was once a cotton plantation and offers circulating fairways among rich, tropical, and colorful vegetation, including breadfruit, lemon, grapefruit, lychee, and avocado trees.
- SCUBA The Marado: Certified Experienced Divers—Tahiti Iti is the only place in French Polynesia with a true drop-off, and located just outside the reef of Vairao's bay is The Marado dive site. Divers swim along the drop-off to a maximum depth of around 90 feet (29 meters) with the chance to observe a diversity of reef fish, different kinds of hard and soft corals, sea anemones, and the unique topography as a pinnacle rises along the drop-off with great visibility. At the end of the dive, and if conditions are favorable, the shallow canyons at the top of the reef may be visited.
- SCUBA The Sea Fans: Certified Experienced Divers—Another dive site in French Polynesia with a true drop-off is The Sea Fans, which is located on the outside reef of Vairao's bay. Divers swim along the drop-off to a maximum depth of around 90 feet (29 meters) for the chance to observe the diversity of reef fishes and different kinds of corals, including beautiful sea fans that are rare to observe in French Polynesia.
